THE CASE OF THE MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

Hear ye! Hear ye! This court of collegiate misdemeanor, the honorable N. G. Neer presiding, is hereby and hereon, etc. etc. whereas—in session!!!

The first case on the docket is that of the University at large versus the campus vagrants, alias the Senior Mechanical Engineers. With overwhelming evidence in support of the charges brought by the plaintiff, and with exhibits from α to Ω (not to mention cosines and hypercycloids), it is hereby charged that:

Richard Henry Aue, also known as "Snowshoe," scares little girls as he clumps around the campus in his size 14's.

Seth "Sleepy" Snyder got a C in E. E. despite falling sound asleep in the final.

Ronald "Donald Duck" Ewart, since the inspection trip, wears his raincoat and an umbrella in his bath (expert testimony presented by Mr. Aue on request).

Theodore "Fence" Rayl, Lester "Pineapple Top" Walcutt, and "Ben" Berne Bletso put their heads together and snored out of tune during three consecutive meetings of "Asme."

Theron "Second Story" Jenkins is responsible for those pest-phrases "good enough for me" and "I'm fer it."

Frankin "Tagalong" Schirmer spent three post-midnight hours in designing a superfluous steam whistle for his boiler design problem.

Philip "Daredevil" Wolpert and Leslie "Joe Colitch" Collett took unfair advantage and got a big night's start on the regulars of the Detroit inspection trip.

J. E. "Flytrap" Finneran stole Major Bowe's gong at the Roundup and kept the Theta Taus awake all night.

John "Jack" Shank was the only one in step during a recent R. O. T. C. review.

Carl "Babyface" Hamilton, alias Buttercup, has never made an eight o'clock on time.

William "Spanky" Horning, Howard "Prize-winner" Limbacher, and Francis "Pat" McElhatton haven't paid dues for six months in the bachelor's club.

Nolan "Barber" Dickason gave Professor Stinson his present pompadour

Williams Fillmore, alias "Potts," with brazen boldness claims his Ford will beat Willard "Mickey" Mautz's Chevy (except toward Stop 18).

James "Bus-window" Caldwell managed the intra-mural teams which nearly won so many cups this year.

George "Hole-in-One" Lattimer was caught wading in Mirror Lake.

John "Indazof" Yore and Burton "Buster

Mechanicals

Keaton" Hazelton threw sheep-eyes at the blonde waitress in Dearborn Inn.

"Mister" Philip Curtiss let the air out of Finneran's tires and blamed it on Officer North.

Harley "Heartbreaker" Hartzell was the originator of the "pell mell through a pill mill" gag on the inspection trip.

H. N. "Nellie" Jones and Norman "Smile Please" Linville are guilty of the gravest of all engineering college crimes, they have been seen coming out of the main library twice in the last four years.

John "Snuffy" Bostic owns the pile of debris usually seen parked at Seventeenth and Iuka.

Herman "Corncrib" Miller graded the Machine Design papers all year (nuf sed).

James "Nosey" Canter oiled the prony brake on the Corliss engine when it "ran hot"

Albert "Epileptic" Phipps and Robert "Booby" Stanley sat in the baldheaded row at one of them thar Detroit burley-que shows.

Marion "Whataman" Pierce is guilty of bringing his sliderule and textbook with him and coming on time to Machine Design on an average of twice per week.

Howard "Prexy" Hite goes home to Pleasantville every week end to see his folks

Charles Whitaker, alias "Motorcycle Ike," drinks a quart of buttermilk each day to keep that schoolgirl complexion.

Eugene "The Jeep" Traxler claims to have drawn his steam engine to the same dimensions that he calculated it.

Richard "Murtagh" Figley and Howard "Duke" Crusey are guilty of managing and editing a rag known as the Ohio State Engineer.

William "Bung" Ohl took Mechanics so many times he had to buy a second book for the course.

Dan "Seedy" Hartman . . . need more be said.

Gentlemen: You have heard the charges and being duly found guilty according to the process of the law you will now receive sentence. In payment for your crimes you are hereby condemned to graduation and must henceforth earn your daily bread by the sweat of your brow. This sentence is layed upon all except one. The lone exception is Mister Curtiss whose sentence shall be to stay and take Machine Design.
